THIS AND THAT.

During the 40 minutes' duration of a cyclone at Brookville, in Queensland, five inches of rain fell.

Iron remains perfectly magnetic up to 650 degrees centigrade, but at 770 degrees this property disappears entirely.

Water boils at 212 degrees in a metal glass, but in a glass vessel does not show ebullition until the temperature reaches 214 degrees.

The island of Crete was referred to by Homer as having "a hundred cities." Its population according to the last census was only 310,363.

The South African elephant has practically been exterminated, except south of the Cunene and Zambezi rivers, where elephant hunting has been prohibited since 1830.

The custom still prevails among Persian widows of having small blue glass bottles for collecting tears, which are afterward poured over the graves of their husbands.

The marriage of Russian peasant girls is still a purely business arrangement. If they abhor their bridegrooms or husbands, as they often have good reason to do, and run away they are almost invariably captured and cruelly beaten in public.

At a fire engine house in Kokomo, Ind., is a happy animal family consisting of a fox terrier and four pups and four white kittens. The mother of the kittens died and the dog has adopted them. During the day the kittens and the pups play together.

A millionaire named Galland left to the city of Geneva all his property except his desk, which went to a lawyer named Couchet. When the desk was about to be handed over to him, 220,000 francs were found in it. The city claimed the money, but after a legal contest Couchet got it.

AIDS TO IMAGINATION.

A Little Gentle Satire on Some Popular Scientific Metaphors.

The human mind, says the London Globe, is so constructed—speaking with all respect to senior wranglers and men of like ability—that it is unable to realize bare figures when they exceed a certain very moderate sum. As a consequence, those people whose task it is to bring home elaborate figures to the public are wont out of the fullness of their appreciation of the weakness of the human intellect, to express the figures by familiar and often more or less ludicrous metaphors. Mr. Sidney Holland the other day unfolded the number of miles to which the pills dispensed at the London hospital in one year would extend, and he no doubt brought home to his hearers and readers the inimitable benefits conferred by the hospital. But the method is more commonly used in popular science than in economics. We were told, for example, the other day, that the way to appreciate the size of the sun was to put into it, in imagination, the earth and the moon. Both at their present distance would be easily contained within the circumference, and yet not reach the center. It is high time that some kind friend put in some neat figure the size of a microbe. In most people's minds it bulks as largely as a fair-sized chicken. The speed and nature of a Marconi message need similar illustration. For example, how much faster does it go than a cricket ball thrown up by Jessop? The effort should not be beyond the scope of the popular scientific lecturer.

An Ant's Great Strength.

Mr. A. R. Miller recently weighed a small ant and a dead grasshopper which it was dragging to its nest. The weight of the grasshopper was found to be 60 times greater than that of the ant. The force exerted by the ant in dragging the grasshopper along the road was therefore proportionately equal to that of a man weighing 150 pounds pulling a load of four and a half tons, or a horse of 1,200 pounds a load of 36 tons.

A City of Padlocks.

Irkutsk, in Siberia, is said to be a veritable city of padlocks. There are more padlocks on the shutters and doors of an Irkutsk shop than can be found in an English city of 200,000. There are as many as three padlocks on some shop doors, and every lower-story shutter bears from one to five.—London Tit-Bits.

Rings Under Gloves.

According to a well-known London jeweler people who want their rings to last should not wear them under gloves. The constant friction of the gloves wears the tiny points that hold the stones in place, and the result is that the stones fall out unless they are closely looked after.

HIS WORD FOR IT.

No Need for Hopkinsville People to Do Any Guessing.

No need for Hopkinsville people to fly about in search of relief from bad backs, urinary weaknesses and disorders and other symptoms of kidney troubles. A man whom you can believe says that Doan's Kidney Pills will reach all such cases.

C. B. Eades, of the firm of Eades & Davis, proprietors of the Coal Yard on Seventh street and the L. & N. R. R., and who lives at 402 East Seventh street, says: "I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised and so highly recommended by persons who had used them that I went to Thomas & Trahern's drug store, procured a box and gave them a thorough trial. I had suffered for a long time with a heavy pain across the small of my back, sharp and acute at times. When I caught cold it always settled in my back, and there followed a weakness of the kidneys which was exasperating especially at night. I tried various remedies but none of them gave anything like as satisfactory results as I obtained from the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. I am pleased to say that they brought me great relief. I have recommended the pills and will continue to do so to all my friends and acquaintances."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Order of the Mayor.

The mayor of Evansville, Ind., recently the scene of a bloody race riot, has ordered all saloons there closed at midnight Saturday, and not opened till 5 o'clock Monday morning. All slot machines have also been ordered out.

A Worm Killer.

J. A. J. Montgomery, Puxico, Wayne Co., Mo., writes: "I have little twin girls, who have been bothered with worms all their lives. I tried everything to relieve them which failed until I used White's Cream Vermifuge; the first two doses brought four worms from one of them, the next two doses, twelve, one of them measuring twelve inches; the other child was only relieved of four worms. It is a most excellent medicine." White's Cream Vermifuge is good for children. It not only destroys worms, it helps the child to perfect growth, wards off sickness. 25c at R. C. Hardwick's.

Decided Against the State.

The long pending case of the state of Minnesota against the Northern Securities Company was decided at St. Paul by Judge Lochen, of the United States court, against the state.

Physicians and Druggists.

Ford & Sturgeon, a prominent drug firm at Rocky Hill Station, Ky., writes: "We were requested by Dr. G. B. Snigley to send for Herbene for the benefit of our customers. We ordered three dozen in December and we are glad to say, Herbene has given such great satisfaction that we have duplicated this order three times, and today we gave your salesman another order. We beg to say Dr. G. B. Snigley takes pleasure in recommending Herbene." 50c bottle at R. C. Hardwick's.

For Gorman.

Representative Bankhead, of Alabama, and Cooper, of Texas, declare that the sentiment of their respective sections is for Gorman as Democratic presidential nominee.

Cured Paralysis.

W. S. Bailey, P. O., True, Tex., writes: "My wife had been suffering five years with paralysis in her arm, when I was persuaded to use Ballard's Snow Liniment, which cured her all right. I have also used it for old sores, frost bites, and skin eruptions. It does the work." 25c, 50c and $1.00 bottle at R. C. Hardwick's.

A Cloudburst.

A cloudburst at Salina, Kan., swept twelve miles of Union Pacific track from the roadbed, flooded nearby towns and did much damage to crops.

The Delineator For September.

The September Delineator is an attractive number and presents a charming and up-to-date display of Autumn fashions. Letters from the foreign fashion centres, and illustrations of the newest fabrics, latest millinery and novelties in trimmings and accessories are valuable contributions in this all important month in the realm of style.

A special feature is a Collection of Rare Samples, an illustrated article showing many precious bits of needlework that are included in a number of famous art collections. In the Flower Series, N. Hudson Moore charmingly recounts the story of the Lilac. A Mystery Luncheon, by Miles Bradford, contains some excellent suggestions for the table along with a good story. A house possessing the comforts and conveniences of the twentieth and the history and architecture of the eighteenth centuries is shown, as well as a couple of pages of exclusive photographs of pets of actors and actresses. Miss Clara E. Laughlin writes entertainingly of the Fourfold Love; Margaret Hall has a helpful chapter on the relations of mistress and servant; and Mrs. Birney adds a paper on Childhood. In fiction, there is the concluding installment of The Boia-Brutes; the first part of a delightful story, A Florida Cracker, by Virginia Frazer Boyle; a pretty love story, entitled The White Moth, by Edward Stratton Holladay, and an amusing monologue, An Afternoon Drive, by Mrs. Woodward Hudson. Among the poetical contributions are: The Song of the Corn, by Minna Smith; Grandma's Sampler, by Alice I. Eaton; Woodland Song, by Clinton Scollard; The Argosy, by Edmund Vance Cheney; Compensation, by Elizabeth Ruggles. For the Children, Lina Beard describes and explains the construction in miniature of the Hanging of Babylon; Livingston Morse has a Firelight story, The Mouses' At-Home; and Michael White contributes an entertaining tale called Bobby's Garden. There is also the Sewing Lesson. The departments contain much information of practical value in the home.

"What Shall We Eat?"

Every day the same old question, What shall we eat for breakfast, for luncheon, for dinner? assails with monotonous regularity the patient housewife who seeks to provide good living for the family in agreeable variety at a moderate cost. There is a daily department in The Chicago Record-Herald which is intended to answer this question satisfactorily every day in the year. It is entitled "Meals for a Day," and provides menus for the three meals every day, with the necessary recipes. These menus and recipes are carefully selected by The Record-Herald's household editor and cash prizes are awarded to the best that are received. Housewives everywhere are invited to participate in the competition. For full particulars see the "Meals for a Day" department in The Chicago Record-Herald.
